

A Note from our President and CEO regarding the Coronavirus (COVID-19)

Over the past several weeks, Hudson Health Services has been preparing for the possible onset of COVID-19. News about this virus is continually evolving, so I would like to update you about the status of our efforts.

The health and safety of our patients, employees, and residents is, as always, our priority, and we have taken many steps to help assure it. We are pre-screening all referrals to our Admissions Department. We have added questions to our Initial Contact Form, asking about recent travel history and specific health symptoms that could be indicative of the virus.

Our entire staff is adhering to a strict infection control protocol. Handwashing, topical treatments, and sanitation are mandatory and are being closely monitored. We are following guidance from the CDC which recommends regular cleaning as one of the most important preventative measures.

Our team has doubled-up on the ordering of medical supplies, paper supplies, and additional food for our facilities in case of a disturbance in the supply chain.

All employees are required to follow protocol, which includes staying home when ill and notifying the Director of Nursing immediately. Tracking infection is a regular function of our medical team even in the most normal of times, and we take it very seriously. We are cross-training our employees in case the need for additional coverage is required.

We will continue to stay updated on the most current information and act accordingly. We will do everything we can to ensure that patients, residents, and staff are safe and receiving proper care.

Thank you for the confidence you place in us. We never take it for granted.

For more information on the Coronavirus, please go to www.cdc.gov.

Leslie Brown, President and CEO
Hudson Health Services, Inc.